

To Live With Monkeys
More Politics
Klan, Rum and League
Many Kings Did It

Current Events

By Arthur Brisbane

HERE'S one original thought:
John Gromardie, citizen of New York, writes to the Franklin Park Zoo in Boston, saying he'd like to be exhibited in the monkey house, with the other primates, "to show the public how much man resembles the ape, in accordance with the Darwinian theory."

SOME THAT live in the open spaces, Texas, Washington, California, Florida, etc., will probably suggest that if all New Yorkers adapted to demonstrating the Darwinian theory were locked up in the Zoological Garden there would be many vacancies in Fifth Avenue and at Newport.

THE BEST way to study man
in connection with the monkeys, if there be any connection, is to look at a row of skeletons, beginning with the Lemur, going up through the lower and higher apes to man.
That's enough to make you
shiver.

IT SHOULD be remembered,
however, that the DIFFER-ENCE between men and monkeys is far greater than the RESEMBLANCE between men and monkeys. Most encouraging to W. J. Bryan and others who hate the Darwinian monkey idea is the statement attributed to Huxley: "The difference between a highly developed white man and one of the lower savages is greater than the difference between the savage and a blade of grass."
If that's so, how far is man
from the monkey?

SPEAKING of monkeys, the great Democratic convention will soon be starting in New York. Some faces that will have a great deal to do with deciding whom Democrats shall vote for are interesting faces. To be more explicit might be offensive.
Some wise politicians say that "Al" Smith has no idea of being nominated for President, but does expect to be nominated for Vice-President. His power in the convention will be great enough to guarantee for himself
the Vice-Presidency.

Part of the alleged plan is to nominate a Southerner—Oscar Gibson—underwood preferred by the Smith crowd.
Putting a Southerner at the head of the ticket would overcome the objection to "Al" Smith
in the South. Putting "Al" Smith in for Vice-President must add enormous strength to the ticket in the North—enough to carry New York anyhow. That's the story.

McADOO, arriving in New York, with a whole train-load of friends from the West, expresses only deepest sympathy for his opponents. One McAdoo from California said: "Mc-Adoo is the only man running for President of the United States.
All the others are running to beat McAdoo."

THE two-third rule will stand.
Smith's men can control
more than the one-third, making it impossible for McAdoo to be nominated. That's what they say.
If so, regardless of what may happen to Smith himself, that would enable the Smith crowd to render one great service to the gentlemen of Wall Street.
Whatever else happens, they don't want McAdoo.

THE ORDINARY little American, trying to raise his family, pay the bills, buy a house,
make ends meet, will wonder feebly, when he hears that the "three big issues" in the Democratic convention are "The Ku Klux Klan, Rum and the League of Nations." He thought there were some other problems.
The League of Nations is a long distance off. Rum, the little thing, isn't so far off. It's at present prices, even if he were foolish enough to drink it. And the Ku Klux Klan is "something else
again."

HERE'S A QUESTION for practical Democrats to ask themselves. Suppose they do

Providence, June 20 (A.P.).— As a result of the flooding with

YALE WINS NEVER SAW FIRST TWO RACES

Freshmen Clean Up by Four Lengths; Junior Varsity Is Tighter Battle

New London, June 20.—Yale
junior varsity and freshmen crews demonstrated again today
the power of the Western stroke, rowing to victory over Harvard crews over a two-mile course on the Thames River in the two forenoon events of Regatta day.
The freshmen crew led the Crimson at the finish line by four lengths while the Blue junior varsity, after a bow-to-bow struggle over most of the course, opened down the final half mile stretch to win by little more than a breast.
Harvard crews in each case fought a game, if losing battle. The Crimson eighth boat got the jump at the starting signal, both crews moving with a pretty stroke somewhat higher than the highest offered by the Blue, but each seemed to spend its force before the lay, and vital half mile.
Yale in both races held to the style of rowing that has won so many victories for the Blue in two years of 33 leader's coaching, rarely going above thirty-four, often failing to thirty-two, but putting a heavy drive in every stroke.
POWER TO SPARE
The Yale crews held in reserve a sprint for the final stretch, and in both cases had power to spare after the gun.
The Crimson freshmen, averaging seven pounds heavier than the first year eight of Yale, rowed its race in the first half mile. Out ahead at the start, it settled down to show thirty-six and held its advantage for a time.
Yale held to thirty-five after the start and gradually wore down the sprinting Crimson crew, leading by a length at the mile.
This lead became a length and a half in the third half mile and there the Blue freshmen eight raised its stroke to 33 and coasted home, finally putting four lengths between it and the victors.

YALE CREWS NEVER SAW HIM, SAYS BRENNAN
Repudiates Man Who Accuses
Him of Accepting Bribe
for Garage Permit
Forensic fireworks expected
by those attending the Finance Commission's probe of garage permit bribes failed to pop when Francis J. Brennan, one of the politicians, accused, appeared today.
The calm and studied indifference of Brennan was more dramatic than the sound and fury anticipated.
William A. McPherson, garage-man of Jamaica Plain, was also in court. He is Brennan's accuser.
At the last session he charged that he paid Brennan $1,000 for a garage permit, upon Brennan's claim that the money was to go to the suburban campaign fund of Mayor Curley.
Brennan and accused faced each other today.
Brennan held their breaths.
Brennan and McPherson looked squarely into each other's eyes.
NEVER SAW HIM.
Then Brennan spoke, without emotion.
"I never saw that man in my life," he said.
Again, when Michael McPherson, father of William, who figured in the transaction, faced Brennan, the latter stated:
"I've never seen that man before,
either."
Subsequently, Brennan denied all the allegations made by McPherson concerning the paying of the $1,000
bribe.
The session was further enlivened by the refusal of John A. Sullivan, counsel for Brennan, to answer questions as to possible payment of money towards the Mayor's suburban campaign funds.

discernible to the naked eye.

Crooks Get $15,000 in Silk in Bedford Street Robbery

Silk valued at $15,000 was stolen from the United Silk Mills
headquarters, room 522, at No.
21 Bedford street, today.
Loading the silk on a truck backed up to the rear entrance of the building at Easter place, the thieves drove off with their booty
just after daybreak.
Special officers William Harrigan and Frank Malen of the la-garage street station are working on the case. Finger prints on the door where the lock was removed are the only clues the police have.

TREASURER OF REVERE SHORT IN ACCOUNTS

A shortage of $2,500 in the account of G. Arthur Tapley, seventy-six-year-old city treasurer of Revere, was revealed today by state auditors who examined his books.
The shortage was revealed to Mayor Noone of Revere and is in addition to a shortage of $12,635 previously discovered in the city's revenue.
Treasurer Tapley has been in the employ of the city of Revere for thirty-seven years and planned to retire at the end of his present term.
In commenting on the shortage,
Theodore W. Wadwell, director of accounts in the State Department of Corporations and Taxation, stated:
"The practice of making advance payments on bills and payrolls and of carrying them as cash memoranda may possibly account for the deficit."

Man Who Shot Dines Re-

arrested on Charge of Possessing Liquor

Los Angeles, Cal., June 20 (The Evening Herald)—Chivalry was a victory here,

but it was short lived.

Hervase Greer, former chauffeur

for J. Edgar Hoover, was arrested on a charge of possessing intoxicating liquor after being arrested on a charge of shooting a woman in the street.

The jury was composed of ten

women and two men.

NOT KICK ENOUGH.

When Greer was released after his acquittal he took to the court house. But he was not swift enough to elude five women members of the jury that had freed him.

Rising up to the under-aged

young man who said "hold"

"We think you did a noble thing,"

Mr. Greer, one of them cried.

"Another fellow in my motherly arms and I was in, Greer was evidently embarrassed.

FIVE MINUTES' LIBERTY.

Greer, whose attorney said that the jurors he shot Dines in self-defense

after having been tried of the charge of shooting Dines, went to Miss Normand and Miss Edna Purviance, who are the millionaires' assistant during a

"gay party" last New Year.

Neither Miss Normand, nor Edna

Purviance were in court to hear the verdict. Miss Normand said she was not entirely satisfied with the way the trial turned out.

"I wish," she said, "that the tri-pression had never been created that a lot of things about that party were hushed up. I wish that my body to 'shoot' me. I wish that had told everything; there certainly was not anything for me to be afraid to have told."

CARRIAGE SET AFIRE,
BABY BADLY BURNED

Several police are searching for boys who set fire to a baby carriage in which ten-month-old Fred

Rosen, of No. 24 Jones road,

Brookline, was sleeping.

The child was badly burned and probably disfigured for life.

The police were told that the boys were playing with matches. When they saw they had set fire to the carriage they ran away.

A passing motorist rescued the child and took her to the office of Dr. Edward Rosen.

After the doctor had treated the burns, he returned the child to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Rosen.

SOCKET LEADER
ASKS $200,000
ALIMONY

New York, June 20.—Another

romantic couple is well known in the Evening Club at Palm Beach has announced in the divorce court.

The man who was the woman's husband is Thomas H. Symington,

chairman of millions, who seeks alimony from Ida Smith Symington.

He merely asks a divorce

without asking for any money.

News of Symington's divorce action became public when Max D.

Greer, attorney for the wife, appeared before Justice Pitkin and asked alimony of $200,000 annually for her until the case is decided.

The attorney charged that there was no supporting proof in the legal papers of any misconduct on Mrs.

Symington's part. He more than implied that the husband wished to be rid of his wife on the grounds

that she was "very extravagant."

Although Symington's income is said to be in six figures, W. A.

Young, his attorney, told the court

the former's finances had suffered set back. This member of the New York Yacht Club may have to be content on only $100,000 this year, he estimated. And as for permitting

him to have $200,000 a year—impossible.

Some things, What of the $200,000 in jewels she possesses? And the first insured for $4,000,000? And smug little bank account in her own name?

Mrs. Symington—a matron at one time a glorious asset—declined to discuss the matter in her town house,

No. 123 East 63d street. And "Tommy"

Symington was not at home in his beautiful home in Norwood Heights, Morristown.

Another Gets Away After

Winthrop Square

Three shots were fired at two young men charged with attempting to steal an automobile from its parking space in Winthrop square today.

Frank T. Reardon was captured by Patrolman Adair after a chase to

Franklin, Kingston and Bedford

streets.

The other, said to be in league

with Reardon, separated from his pal

at Kingston and Bedford streets and jumped into a taxi and escaped.

Attention was first attracted to the men when they were having difficulty

in starting the motor of the machine. Employers of the Boston

American notified the Court Square

officers.

When Reardon and his pal saw the police they leaped from the automobile and ran.

Adair chased Reardon, and, when his adversary was proving too fast,

fired three shots into the air. Reardon surrendered.

Snyder never drew closer than 50 feet to his man. Several times he threatened to shoot, but the fugitive paid no attention, finally disappearing down a side street.

Questioned at Station 2, Reardon

admitted that he was a thief and longed for the machine for a ride. He denied knowing the other who got

and his address as Vernon street,

CANDLER, 72 YEAR OLD COCA COLA KING, WED A YEAR, ASKS DIVORCE

DECLARES BRIDE WAS CRUEL

Also Charges She Humiliated Him by "Joy-Riding With Other Men"

Atlanta, June 20.—Asa G. Candler, seventy-two-year-old Coca Cola king, today filed suit for divorce in the Fulton Superior Court against the pretty young woman to whom he has been married less than a year.

The multimillionaire in his petition charged "cruel treatment." He said his pretty wife had been going "joy riding with other men," which was "very humiliating" to him.

The suit follows a domestic wrangle of several months ago, when Mrs. Candler was arrested in a fashionable apartment house here and charged with being the "occupant of a dive." She was acquitted of the charge.

Two prominent Atlanta business men arrested with her were exonerated.

Since that time Mrs. Candler, formerly May Little Hagin, public stenographer, has been living with her mother after leaving the paternal Candler mansion.

A year ago when Candler married the stenographer she had an office in the Candler Building. After a honeymoon trip to Northern cities, the capitalist installed his bride in a home in the exclusive Druid Hills residential section of Atlanta.

Candler is one of the best known men in the South. He has five children by a former marriage.

RISKS BUSINESS DEAL TO SAVE STRAY MUTT

Cambridge Woman Loses Her Train in Philadelphia Carrying for Friendly Terrier

Money talks, but it takes time to seek other spots for mitigation. The three men insisted they were within the law and refused to move on.

The police then discovered that each of the youths carried a bottle of bay rum. They recalled an old statute in which it is expressly forbidden to carry onto the Common any liquor which has alcohol in it.

The labels on the bay rum bottles admitted an alcoholic content of 50 per cent. Thus the three youths were charged with violation of the statute, and they were fined $10 each.

At Philadelphia she stopped off to change trains. A little fox terrier whimpered and ran up to her, sensing a friend. Risking the loss of her train, she picked the dog up and carried it to the office of General Smalley D. Butler, director of public safety.

She was told, however, to take the dog to the Animal Rescue League, she did—and lost her train and her business appointment carrying the dog of money.

But Mrs. Ingraham was not deterred. She took another train, hoping for the best and happy that the dog was safe.

URGE LEGAL HOLIDAY FOR 17TH OF JUNE

A legal holiday for June 17 next year and the holding of the largest celebration ever conducted in Charleston on Bunker Hill day in commemoration of the 150th anniversary of the battle, was favored by several speakers at the annual meeting of the staff of this year's military and civic parade, by District Chairman Thomas F. Fitzpatrick and Chief Marshal Charles A. Flanagan in Memorial Hall, Green street, Charleston.

Judge Charles S. Sullivan of the Charleston Court favored petitioning the Legislature to make the day a legal holiday next year and to start plans early for the biggest celebration in the history of the district.

The trial flight is expected to include Berlin, Copenhagen and Stockholm, after which the dirigible will return here to perfect final arrangements for the voyage which will take her to Luleaburg, K. J. The ship is complete and is now awaiting only the motor installation.

PERSHING PROTEST BY PRESBYTERIANS

Jacksonville, Ill., June 20.—The Presbyterian Synod at this session here adopted resolutions protesting against the method chosen by the War Department for honoring General Pershing on his retirement from service September 12, by a general mobilization of the military forces of the country.

The resolutions voice a vigorous protest from the synod and request that some other less military method of honoring the retiring war commander.

Three Youths With Bay Rum Fined Under Old Law

Today they came upon three of the youths who warm the benches in the Common, day and night, and requested them to seek other spots for mitigation. The three men insisted they were within the law and refused to move on.

The police then discovered that each of the youths carried a bottle of bay rum. They recalled an old statute in which it is expressly forbidden to carry onto the Common any liquor which has alcohol in it.

The labels on the bay rum bottles admitted an alcoholic content of 50 per cent. Thus the three youths were charged with violation of the statute, and they were fined $10 each.

The injured are Charles F. W. Chapman and Baccusman Charles McKinney, both of the passenger train crew. Forbes, who was killed, was freeman of the freight engine. All three men live in St. Albans.

Harvard-Yale Boat Race Today Mecca of Hub's Smart Set, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN

HARVARD was the center about which the social world circled this week. The spreads and parties for the younger set, and the sports, the Stadium galleys, the baseball games and the crew races for everybody, the week was rather well filled. Of it all, the most sporting and popular seems to be the Harvard-Yale crew races at New London today.

For days New London has harbored Harvard men planning the last great event of Commencement week. The entire class of 1934, who this year celebrated their decennial, and made such dashing terrors in the march to the stadium on Tuesday, were at the Graveland inaugurating boat race week. Dances and dinners are always part of the festivities. More of these events than ever seem to have been marked on the calendar for this year.

Mrs. Harold J. Condit, Mary Boston business as at the Graveland. Mrs. Harold J. Condit, the Charles Voss, Mrs. Andrew Allen of Chestnut Hill, Mrs. Herbert P. Oitz, Mrs. Eben S. Draper and Mrs. Robert L. Raymond are in New London for the water sports.

WITH the boating drosses setting sail again, the Robert F. Herricks of Milton will probably spend much time aboard their yacht. Miss Alice Herrick, one of last season's most attractive debutantes, will very likely be with her parents on the water for a greater part of the summer.

TOMORROW is another boating event in the Eastern Yacht Club starts from New London to Marshfield. The annual ocean race of the Eastern Yacht Club starts from New London to Marshfield. The prize this time is the gold cup offered by Commodore Harold S. Vanderbilt.

MRS. FINEK WARREN is due to spend the entire season at the Brownlands, which is to open later this month. Several other Bostonians have reservations for the hot months. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brewster are among those likely to be there.

Society Notes

MANY Boston folks are leaving for the cool Maine woods and beaches. Dr. and Mrs. E. G. Cutler, who have been at the Vendome for several weeks, following their return from Europe, have left for York Harbor. Miss Anna Cutler is with them.

Miss L. D. Cutler and Mrs. William Pratt have already gone to North East Harbor, where they will spend the summer.

The P. L. Gaulters of New York and Miss H. P. Knight have been in Boston for a short time on their way from their winter home in Florida to Maine.

Mrs. Solomon Stratton of Beacon street is staying at the Vendome for a few weeks.

Another Bostonian to tour Europe this summer is Miss Helen Wheeler, who just left for abroad.

Mrs. A. B. Jarvis of New York City has been in Boston for a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland C. Lincoln returned this week to "Little Orchard," their place at Manchester.

WIOA AIKEN IS ALIVE, POLICE BELIEVE

Providence, R. I., June 25.—That three-year-old Viola Aiken will be found alive and unhurt is now the belief of the Rhode Island authorities.

A visit the child's father, John Aiken, paid to his wife, Viola Aiken, who is held in the House of Correction in connection with the case, in one of the reasons the police give for their belief that little Viola is safe.

Police are also checking up the movements, on the day of the disappearance, of a mentally defective resident of the North Smithfield district.

Mr. Aiken's stolid attitude, which she had maintained ever since the child disappeared, except for a fit of weeping during questioning by Chief Inspector Ahern of the Providence police, is interpreted now to mean that she may know positively that her child is alive and that no harm can come to her, the mother, on account of the disappearance.

Search for an automobile which may have been used in the "kidnaping" of the child is being made among Mrs. Aiken's friends, in the expectation that a car may be found answering the description given by the Harmony, R. I., power man who saw a baby girl transferred mysteriously from one car to another at about the time the child dropped out of sight.

BROOKLINE GIRL IS KILLED BY FIREWORKS

Gertrude Burke, seven-year-old daughter of Mrs. Catherine Burke of 108 Brookline avenue, Brookline, who was burned while setting off fireworks on June 17, died at the Children's hospital.

At the time of the accident the child was taken to the Peter Bent Brigham hospital. There the police were informed that the hospital did not take children's cases and she was obliged to obtain a taxi and take the child to the Children's hospital.

SHOTS FIRED AT 'OTHER WOMAN' BALL PLAYERS IN NEWTON

Fifteen Bullets Are Fired by Two Men at Cabot Park

Every available Newton police officer is engaged in a man hunt, searching for two fugitives who fired fifteen or more shots at a crowd of baseball players and spectators at Cabot Park, Newton.

The men were chased to a house on West street, but eluded the officers. A third man who was with the pair is also sought.

The three are Antonio Mazzola, of No. 61 Green street; Stephen Cardella, of No. 12 Green street; and James Barrisano, of No. 24 Green street.

Several hundred men and boys were gathered on the public playground when two of the men appeared in a clump of woods about 100 yards distant. The pair had three revolvers between them. Without any apparent cause, they leveled the weapons at the crowd and started shooting.

Bullets struck trees near persons in the crowd, which scattered and sought safety in flight. When the pair in the woods emptied their weapons they ran. Several hundred men and boys gave chase.

Later three Newton policemen joined in the pursuit.

OTHER WOMAN LETS WIFE WIN WILL SUI

Gives Up $150,000 Estate Left Her by Dentist to the Widow and Boy

New York, June 25.—When the family gathered last January to hear the reading of the will of Dr. Israel S. Finkel, wealthy dentist, a sensational lay in store.

"To my wife and child I give and bequeath the sum of $150,000."

The lawyer paused and glanced playfully at the frail woman and young son, then resumed: "I leave to my wife and child the sum of $150,000."

Thus it was that the widow, who had given fourteen years of her life to the doctor and borne him a son, was left practically penniless, where as the "other woman," who had come into his life but a brief two years before, was awarded a fortune of approximately $150,000.

Mrs. Finkel had been aware of her husband's death. In fact, she obtained a separation, naming the younger woman and child.

Dr. Finkel failed to keep up his alimony payments and, at his wife's instigation, was threatened with membership in the "Alimony Club" at Ludlow. He paid.

But, obviously, he altered his will in distribution.

Mrs. Finkel, through her attorney,

Bennett J. Siegelstein, launched a court fight to break the will and the hearing came up before Surrogate Shubert in The Bronx.

She charged that her late husband had become mentally unbalanced and been unduly influenced in the alteration of his will. She brought numerous of his tenacious and hostile to the witness stand to attest his eccentricities.

Miss Sullivan was present, but offered no defense. She asked a conference in chambers, and at its close the hearing was dropped. It was announced that the will had been broken by consent and the widow given the estate.

PICTURES SENT BY WIRELESS SAYS INVENTOR

Frenchman Announces Success After Working on Idea for Several Years

Paris, June 20.—Edouard Belin, inventor of the method for transmitting pictures and photographs by wire, announced today he had succeeded in sending pictures by wireless.

M. Belin has been working on photographic wireless transmission for several years. A number of other scientists have also been working on this radio problem. Two years ago M. Belin said he had sent handwriting by wireless. He predicted his method would be perfected to such an extent that actual photographs could be sent and received through the air.

Most of the inventor's experimental work has been done in his laboratories at Malmison, France.

TWO BOYS HURT AS AUTOS MEET IN CRASH

Young Bank Messengers Are Rescued From Overturned Car on Brookline Avenue

Peter Doyle.

Two young Brookline boys, employed as messengers in the financial district, were seriously injured and shaken up when two automobiles were in collision at the corner of Brookline avenue and the Riverway today.

The boys, James and Stephen Kelley, are at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital.

Frank L. Cobb of 171 Walk Hill street, Mattapan, and Thomas Goldrick of 141 Lammie street, Jamaica Plain, were the drivers of the cars. The Kelley boys were riding in Goldrick's machine.

The car operated by Cobb is the property of Mrs. S. Cobb of 155 Walk Hill street, Mattapan; that driven by Goldrick is owned by Charles Webster of Roxbury.

Goldrick's car, in which the two boys were riding, was overturned when the Cobb machine struck it while both machines were traveling at high speed.

Peter Doyle, an eyewitness of the accident, summoned help and escorted the Kelley boys from underneath the overturned machine.

Every mother will want this nourishing bread for her children

A good old recipe of our founder, Robert Boyd Ward, was the starting point of your new loaf—the recipe he thought a loaf of bread should be made from. We added to it still more nourishment—considerably more milk, extra sugar, and shortening, until we had as nourishing and as rich a loaf as we could make.

Therefore your new loaf is the kind of bread that children like. It contains the nourishment children need—for they eat bread oftener than any other food.

Your new loaf is just right to make substantial sandwiches for lunch or a picnic—sandwiches that will keep moist and fresh longer.

It makes delicious toast.

It is a real, honest loaf of good bread, containing the things that belong in bread—and nothing else. We're proud of it—we've given it our own name, Ward's Fine Bread.

Before we put the loaf on sale, we went this far to find out your taste: We got the leading loaves of bread and this new loaf, and we sliced platefuls of samples of each and numbered each plate. We invited women to come in and test the different samples and vote for the one they preferred. 9 out of every 10 picked this new loaf first.

Our own employes prefer it to all of our other loaves.

When you have tried it, please write us what you think of it. We would like to hear from you.

Union Breath Fails to Save Cop From Trial Board

The only thing they could smell on Patrolman Patrick Creighton's breath was onions, but he'll stand trial just the same.

Patrolman Creighton of the Rock Bay station covers a beat that includes Commonwealth avenue. He left his beat at 10 p. m. and went home.

His mother called the station and told the desk man Pat was sick and wanted someone to pull him home for him. An officer was sent to his house. When this officer returned to the station he reported that he had smelled Creighton's breath, but had discovered nothing more than onions.

But Patrolman Creighton is charged with leaving his beat without permission and will go before a trial board to answer.

CREW OF SHIP AVERT PANIC AMONG 700

Metagana of Canadian Pacific Line Limpers Disabled In to St. John's

St. John's N. F., June 20.—A tale of panic among 700 passengers averted by the cool headed action of officers and stewards and of how a captain brought his virtually sinking ship safely into port nearby to stave off the scene of accident was told when the Canadian Pacific liner Metagana arrived here after colliding off Cape Race with the Italian steamer Clara Camus in a dark fog.

Both vessels, with plates twisted, leaking and with pumps going, limped into this port more than eight hours after the collision.

With a hole ripped in her starboard side, resulting in the rapid flooding of her forward stoke hold, the officers of the Metagana supervised the filling of ballast tanks on the port side of the craft, while they quelled the passengers' rising doleful after the first shock of the collision.

Both vessels reached port reporting no loss of life, although the bow of the Clara Camus was driven back to the forecastle winch by the impact, and her forehold flooded, while cabin on the starboard side of the Metagana were wrecked.

Crews of the two craft gave differing versions of the crash. According to members of the crew of the Clara Camus, a 4,600-ton steamer, their craft had been ordered stopped, owing to the dense fog, when the collision occurred.

Members of the crew of the Metagana said that while the vessel was running slowly in the fog about 11 o'clock blowing her whistle every minute, she was rammed by a vessel which, after whistling thrice, backed away into the fog and disappeared.

Once again the passengers bound from Glasgow to Montreal became anxious as the ship listed further, fear entering St. John's harbor.

With no time for transferring passengers to boats, she was rushed to a shoal and beached.

The Montreal is to call here Saturday to convey the passengers to Quebec.

VETS SWARMI BONUS BUREAU SEEKING ADVICE

THEY'RE GETTING BUNKS AND ADVICE THEY REQUIRE

By the SOLDIERS' FRIEND.

The American-Advertiser bonus bureau, assisting veterans of the World War in the preparation of bonus application, is in full swing and it may soon be necessary to enlarge the space allotted on the street floor of the American building, No. 80 Summer street.

Hundreds of former soldiers, sailors, marines and coast guardsmen and veterans of all branches of government service have their adjusted compensation applications all ready for mailing to Washington on July 1 or after.

These were speedily accommodated by the soldiers' friend bureau experts. The finger-print expert worked overtime. You know Bonus buddies that you've got to be identified by means of finger prints. This and all other details will be politely explained by the members of Director Fajard's bureau staff.

Come in, get your prints on your application and get your application all ready for mailing. There are some questions and answers:

Mrs. A. L. Womack, R. L.
Q.—My son, a veteran of the World War, is now in a veterans' hospital. Am I entitled to obtain the bonus for him, if he is mentally unable to do so?

A.—If your son is incapable by reason of mental disability, you should apply for him, as his legal guardian. It will be necessary for you first to apply to the court for appointment as guardian.

R. A. Lynn.
A.—The adjusted Compensation Act provides that members of the National Guard called into service by the President's proclamation of July 3, 1917, may count the days of service from the date of call into service and August 3, 1917, both inclusive, and shall be deemed to have been in active service.

R. E. Monson, Me.
Q.—How and where will I send my service papers to get the bonus?
A.—Make application and answer the questions to the best of your ability. Use the information contained in your discharge papers for that purpose. Do not send your discharge with the application.

M. M. W.
Q.—Has the director of the bureau at Washington the authority to permit me to transfer my policy and make the same payable to whomever I wish?

A.—The law provides that a veteran may change his beneficiary with the approval of the director of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau. The law prohibits a veteran from assigning his policy as security for a loan or for any other consideration. Any assignment, sale or transfer, in violation of the law, is void.

A. L. M. Hingham.
A.—My brother was killed in France. My mother, who was dependent upon him, died the following year. Do the surviving brothers and sisters inherit what would have been received as a bonus by his brother if he had lived?

A.—Surviving brothers and sisters are not entitled to receive any benefits under the bonus law.

J. M. C. Waverly.
Q.—I served two years in the National Guard, was called into service May 21, 1917, by reason of dependency. Am I entitled to the bonus, or is my mother?

A.—The adjusted Compensation Act provides that members of the National Guard called into service by the President's proclamation of July 3, 1917, may count the days of service from the date of call into service and August 3, 1917, both inclusive, and shall be deemed to have been in active service.

J. P. P. Dorchester.
Q.—Please let me know what kind of a policy I am entitled to receive and what is the shortest time I can draw on it.

A.—If the total credit to which you are entitled is $50 or less, it will be paid to you in cash, March 1, 1925. If the total credit is more than $50, you will receive an adjusted compensation insurance certificate, which is a twenty-year paid-up policy, payable at its face value in twenty years from the date of its issuance, or, in the event of your death, to the beneficiaries you have named in the policy. You may borrow money on your note, giving the policy as security, after two years from its date. The policies will have credits on them, the conditions under which loans may be made, including a table of loan values based upon the use of the certificate and the age of the veteran.

Mrs. R. H. Y. Lincoln.
Q.—My first husband, a World War veteran, died in 1921, leaving a daughter who is now three and one-half years old. I remarried. Am I entitled to the bonus, or is my daughter?

A.—The fact that you have married again bars you. Next in order of preference to your little daughter, she will be entitled to the bonus upon application made in her behalf.

P. E. S. Portland, Me.
Q.—I was on active duty in the navy from October 4, 1918, to February 13, 1919. How will my bonus be computed?

A.—Veterans who served at home will be entitled to $1 a day for each day and to $1.25 for every day overseas, first deducting the first sixty days of home service. If the total credit is more than $50 a paid-up twenty-year endowment policy, payable at face value in twenty years, will be issued.

Mrs. S. B. Portland, Me.
Q.—I am the widow of a veteran who died in a hospital. I have a little girl four years old. Am I entitled to bonus money?

A.—If you have not married again

Ladies' X-Ray Gowns at Paris Races Hold No Secrets

Paris, June 20.—French women are breaking out again. They appeared in the paddock at Longchamps here for the French derby wearing little or nothing more above the waist than the horses wear.

They called what they wore an X-ray gown, and no one skilled in anatomy would have had any trouble determining whether all was well with milady's flaring ribs, and why not.

Several American women fainted, but not a single man—or married one—did. They stood their ground, leave fellows, let the sun X-ray where it would. When the American women were revived they asked for a drink and the address of the X-ray modiste.

H. J. G. Boston.
Q.—On April 6, 1917, I enlisted in the National Guard. A few months later I was discharged on account of dependency. I have never received a discharge. Am I entitled to the bonus?

A.—If you were a member of the National Guard which was called into service by the President's proclamation of July 3, 1917, you are entitled to credit for active service between the date of call into service, as specified in the proclamation, and August 3, 1917, both inclusive. You should file an application. The authorities in Washington will determine from the date of call into service whether or not you are entitled to receive any benefits. Write to the Adjutant General of the State House for information about your discharge from the National Guard.

7-YEAR-OLD GIRL HAS FIRE ALARM MANIA
SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 20.—An epidemic of useless alarms of fire in Syracuse within the last few weeks is charged by police against a seven-year-old girl who "liked to see the fire engines."

The girl was identified by school teachers after she had refused for more than twelve hours, to answer all questions other than to admit she turned in a "lot of fire alarms."

THREAT SENT TO SISTER OF FRANKS

Chicago Police Believe Letter Was Mailed by Murder Case Crank

Chicago, June 20.—A letter threatening Josephine Franks, sister of the kidnaped and slain Robert Franks, to whose murder Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb confessed, has been received by Chief Justice Caverly of the Criminal Court.

The letter is regarded by Chief Justice Caverly as the work of a crank. It was signed "George Johnson," the name used in the ransom note sent by Leopold and Loeb.

It is only one of 196 letters received by Chief Justice Caverly concerning the Franks case and was turned over to the police with others.

Because the latest letter came so soon after a note threatening to kidnap the son of Irvin H. Hartman, wealthy furniture dealer, who has sent his two children to Baltimore, the police believe a number of cranks and mischievous persons are spending their spare time writing such notes.

Los Angeles, June 20.—While speakers addressing the California

Arrival of police broke up the demonstration but signs stating that "Americans are being mistreated in Japan and Japanese are going to be mistreated here," remained posted in conspicuous places.

'MOST SHAPELY' GIRL
WANTS HER LIBERTY

MR. AND MRS. JOHN C. HOWARD.
Mrs. Howard, formerly Ora Carew, "the girl with the most perfect figure in the world," is here shown in an affectionate pose with her wealthy Haverhill husband, the state she now seeks to divorce. She says he is "insane." Her suit shatters a Hollywood romance of four years ago.

Ora Carew, motion picture actress, said to have the most perfect figure in the world, has sued for divorce John C. Howard, son of John F. Howard, known as the "salo dressing king" of Haverhill.

The suit filed in Los Angeles, according to the Los Angeles Examiner, marks the ending of a romance that began four years ago when Howard first began to woo the shapely Ora.

Howard came before the public through his divorce from Susan Newhall Howard of Bedford. He then went to the Coast, where he became principal in a three-cornered romance in which two prominent business men figured as rivals.

But Howard, ex-actor, won out and married Mrs. Carew, a famous member of Max Bennett's bathing girls troupe December 12, 1922. The wedding took place at the Carew home at No. 1550 Winona avenue, Los Angeles.

The couple came East on their honeymoon and visited the actor Howard in Haverhill as well as spending some time in Boston, where Mrs. Howard cut quite a figure in local theatrical and moving picture circles.

Mrs. Howard now charges cruel and inhuman treatment.

RESISTS REMOVAL OF FENCE

Town Surveyor Completes Task After She is Quelled and Locked Up

An infuriated woman, slight of build, held the town surveyor of Braintree at bay with a garden hose and then for half an hour battled hand to hand with a husky policeman before she was finally overpowered and handcuffed.

The town of Braintree wanted to remove a fence that extended on the property. It was this after the woman, brutal and determined, had done her best to prevent the removal of the fence.

The woman, Mrs. Carl Rubant, broke down as an angry, red-headed, grinning.

Some time ago, Town Surveyor Harley White, discovered, in removing some lines, that a picket line along the Rubant property was encroaching two feet on ground owned by the town.

Two weeks ago, White started to remove the fence. Two hours later, after being by Mrs. Rubant, he was forced to leave.

When the next attempt started on the picket line, she was so angry that she was forced into a cell, where she was kept for several hours.

Building of the Wool Products Company and Stock Destroyed on Arlington St.

Chelsea tenement houses and business blocks were threatened today by a three-alarm fire which destroyed the two-story building at Nos. 32-34 Arlington street.

Loss to the building, stock of the Boston Wool Products Company, the T. W. Woolen Goods Co., and the Woolen Goods Co. was estimated by Fire Chief J. C. Hudson at $15,000.

Sparks showed neighboring tenement houses and only by releasing efforts of the Chelsea fire department were checked before spreading to the adjoining rubber and metal company of Oscar Cutler.

All along Arlington Avenue, Second street residents were told to make ready to leave, should the fire get beyond control.

Many railroad men, however, preferred to wait on short notice.

Coddish and Pie Added to Breakfasts Now in Capital

Washington, June 20.—Sunday before last the wife of a prominent government official asked her husband at the breakfast table what he supposed the diet of George would have for breakfast that morning.

He replied that, since New Englanders often eat pie, perhaps the President would do so. The wife was sure coddish and pie would be on the White House breakfast menu.

The negro cook took in the dish Sunday morning. He offered it to a wife, but he was refused, and he was refused for breakfast.

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

"I am getting married in September" was the greeting I received from a young man I had seen for months. He said: "I got estimates for building a house but the figures were crazy. I am not going to buy one, either. I am going to rent for a while, until building prices come down."

He wanted to know if I thought he was wise.

I told him I thought he was.

I don't pretend to be an authority on the subject of building, but I have been making it my business lately to keep my eyes and ears open, and I have formed the definite opinion that the bloom is off this year.

Yesterday I noticed over a large part of Long Island, rising up the amount of building going on and the number of "for sale" signs. What I saw only seemed to confirm the impression I had already formed.

Last week I visited a friend in the Bay Ridge section of Brooklyn. Walking from his home to the subway, along a street of houses, many of them new, I noticed the fact that almost every building carried a sign "Agent Ready To Sell." I noticed an increase in the number of vacant business buildings and apartment houses in New York city.

Across in Jersey it has become definitely harder to dispose of the multitude of new homes which have been rushed up there.

Conditions today certainly are very different than what they were two years ago, when there was something resembling a housing boom. Then concern that furnished many millions of money for new buildings has decided to pull in its horns. It is contending that the long period of feverish activity is nearly at an end. True, the volume of permits being issued in New York, in Chicago, in Detroit, in Cleveland, in Baltimore, in Seattle and some other cities is still extraordinarily large. But that fact only serves to make those who finance building more conservative.

Last month the National Association of Real Estate Boards, with headquarters in Chicago, issued its semi-annual survey of the real estate market, based on replies received from 235 brokers. It was the chief conclusion "clearly indicated in the answers to the questionnaire." The association reports:

"The real estate market, except in isolated cases, manifestly is a satisfactory degree of activity. In many instances, the market is reported more active than last year, but, on the whole, the real estate market is becoming more and more normal."

"The real estate market," says the association, "is clearly passing the transition from a boom to a normal condition. The country as a whole and are being stabilized at present conditions."

"Further, however, as reported on the shortage of financing. This is a serious indication of approach to a normal market condition."

"For the most part, however, the development of the real estate market is being watched with interest by investors and lenders are assuming an attitude of caution and conservatism, particularly in speculative enterprises."

"The labor situation in the building trade is becoming more and more satisfactory."

One very homely truth it is never to forget is that the abnormal, purely speculative, rise in the price of any commodity or service is bound to end. When the price of any commodity or service rises to abnormal heights, processes immediately are set in motion to correct the situation.

Building waves and building booms have been and still are out of line with other waves and other booms. They are not likely to stay out of line very much longer.
